Book of Coupons!

To: _____

From: _____

In social group, I am working on being a social thinker. Part of being a social thinker is perspective taking. This means that I try to think how other people might think and feel. I also try to remember things about people, such as things that make them happy. I used my social thinking skills to make this book. I thought about things that you would like and created coupons for you to use. When I give you the book, I am making the commitment to do the things that I wrote. When you redeem your coupon, I will do what the coupon says. Being a social thinker makes people feel good about others. I hope this coupon book makes you happy and makes you have good thoughts about me!
